

Miners' Action Brings Largest Walkout in Canadian Mining History Is Underway

In accordance with a unanimous decision reached at a meeting held in the Labor House yesterday afternoon union miners in the Edmonton district went out on strike at 12 p.m. Sunday, and coal production virtually came to a standstill.

Peter Collins, secretary of Sub-District No. 3, District 18, United Mine Workers of America stated that "between 283 and 300" of the 36 members of the union in this district attended the meeting which decided on the strike.

George Horne presided.

In laying down their tools and going on strike the Edmonton district miners joined the fellow union members in other parts of this province and British Columbia for an aggregate of 9,000 men.

In Northern Alberta there are 71 mines affected, with a total of 2,354 miners.

The meeting was called here Sunday afternoon by Mr. Collins as secretary of Sub-District No. 3 of the union and he acted as general secretary.

Call for the strike was issued by Robert Livett, district president, U.M.W.A.

Mr. Livett and Angus J. Morrison, M.L.A. for Edmonton and secretary of the district, are due to arrive at Ottawa, Monday in connection with the strike.

Great Effort God Start Is Made to Final Week of Loan

OTTAWA, Nov. 1.—(CP)—In view of the number of the armed forces, an insurance company combined today, providing Ontario, and payroll subsidies combined today, and start to the third week of the drive were 1,530,000, national loan headquarters reported today.

Discontinued Sunday for the first time the drive were 1,530,000, national loan headquarters reported today.

The total subscribed by the army and navy was 1,530,000 from the grand total of all, Mr. F. T. Jones, secretary of the Fourth Victory League, said.

Call for the strike was issued by Robert Livett, district president, U.M.W.A.

Mr. Livett and Angus J. Morrison, M.L.A. for Edmonton and secretary of the district, are due to arrive at Ottawa, Monday in connection with the strike.

One of the first Canadian strikes to see action with ground forces in this war is P.O. Hugh O'Brien, of Detective and Mrs. K. O'Brien, 1824 24th avenue. Operating with troops under a Liaison scheme, P.O. O'Brien helped take the town in Italy. Despite shell-bursts, the airman described the action as "fun". Previously P.O. O'Brien had seen much action in the North African campaign.

The Trans-Canada Airlines plane carrying the delegates was grounded overnight at Regina by bad weather, and is scheduled to arrive in Ottawa about 10:30 a.m. tonight. The delay means that the strike will continue for at least 24 hours, as is unlikely a settlement will be reached until government and union officials have conferred.

District 18 U.M.W.A. president and list of the strikers' delegation to Ottawa, Robert Livett, called the strike last Friday. The workers' demand is a standard wage rate of $7.50 per day plus a general increase of 32, as well as time and meal for the sixth workday of the week, and two weeks holiday with pay after one year's service.

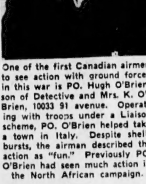

ACCENTUATED SHORTAGE
The strike call went out to some 1,500 mine workers in Alberta and 1,200 in British Columbia and accentuated an already serious Canadian coal shortage by paralyzing some 60 per cent of the Dominion's 17,500,000 ton production.

Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver, Victoria and smaller communities are being affected.

Edmonton Flier In Action With Ground Forces

By NOLAN HORGARD
ALGERS, Oct. 30.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Hugh O'Brien of the 1000th 91st Ave., Edmonton, one of the first airmen to go into battle with ground forces, participated in the first Canadian strike in a successful battle on an Italian town and despite shell-bursts whizzing by, said O'Brien.

O'Brien went with the troops under a Liaison scheme whereby selected members of air and ground forces trade places to help the understanding between the services and increase co-operation.

"It was a great change from flying operations after all these years," O'Brien said. "In addition I got a tremendous thrill out of meeting several old pals from Edmonton whom I hadn't seen for years, including Les Ken Scott, Pete Jack, Bryan. It was rather like home week."

Result of Strike Mayor Appeals For Economy in Use Light, Heat

Appeal was made Monday by Mayor John W. Fry and the city commissioners to commercial, industrial and householders to conserve as much light and heat as possible to enable the city power plant to carry on as long as possible with essential services.

The appeal was issued following a conference between city commissioners and Mayor Fry on the city's coal position in relation to the coal strike, and was issued because there is no assurance when the coal mines in the Edmonton district will get back into production.

To conserve coal, certain lights will be cut by 50 per cent. In the downtown district, Mayor Fry stated, he asked that commercial operators cut out all sign lighting and store window illumination. Householders are asked to conserve as much heat and light as possible.

It was stated by R. G. Watson, power superintendent, that there was sufficient coal in the power plant dump, to meet normal operation consumption for from 15 to 20 days.

Mayor Fry stated that he had conferred by telephone with provincial government officials concerning conservation steps to be taken in protecting the coal supply as much as possible.

He said that he expected to have a further council conference with Premier Ernest Manning at which he would urge that a provincial-wide coal conservation plan be adopted. He hoped to have some further announcement to make concerning steps to be taken by the city to conserve coal here.

Edmonton Hits Home Stretch Of Loan Drive

After two weeks of campaigning in Canada's Fifth Victory Loan, Edmonton is coming down the home stretch in fairly good form, with a total of $127,400, making 77.5 per cent of the $165,000 objective.

There have been 17,211 individual subscriptions.

$1,474,474 sales were worth $28,800, or 25 per cent of 1,301 individual sales.

At a point communique, the "driver" luncheon, held at the hotel, salesmen were told by Mr. Livett that they would need to keep "plugging the drive" in the last week, despite the good showing to date.

Ken Duggan, city organizer, was chairman of the meeting.

Similar talks were made by R. E. Staples, city chairman, R. E. Pires, chairman of the payroll savings division, Gordon E. Hines, provincial vice-chairman in charge of public relations, and R. M. Jones, chairman of the group payroll plan.

It was pointed out that although dollar sales and total subscriptions are up over last week the objective is much higher and there must be more compliance if Edmonton is to go over the top.

Total in all of Alberta for the first week was $24,887,500, which is 67.3 per cent of the provincial quota of $37,000,000.

The liveliest kind of a race for honors in developing between Edmonton Army units and Air Force establishments in this city.

Four Airmen Die When Plane Crashes

Fatal accident involving the pilot, two trainees and a wireless air gunner, occurred Friday night to one of No. 2 Air Observer School aircraft.

The accident happened approximately two miles northwest of Cooking Lake airport, and the plane crashed into a field about 300 yards from shore, killing all the occupants. The aircraft was on a regular routine night flight. Cause of the accident has not been determined.

Bracken Says: Farmers Seek Fair Prices For Livestock

Many western farmers are concerned over future of the Canadian livestock industry, John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, said in Edmonton Sunday night.

"Farmers to whom I have spoken feel they have not been given adequate price adjustment to meet needs of the present situation," Mr. Bracken declared. "They feel there should be greater assurance that a fair price structure will be maintained."

The Progressive Conservative Party is in the city Sunday in the course of a speaking tour through the whole of Alberta.

Starting in the northwest, his trip will take him to the Peace River country before it is completed.

COMMENDS FARMERS
Mr. Bracken said farmers of the west are to be commended for the measure in which they have met wartime demands for increased production, "I say this with particular reference to livestock products," he added.

The province of Alberta should be commended for the measure.

Capture Perkeo Red Army Cuts Nazis' Crimean Retreat Route

LONDON, Nov. 1.—(CP)—Gen. Fedor Tolbukhin's troops, racing westward toward the Crimean river, has cut the German retreat road to the town of Perkeo, at the northern western entrance into the peninsula, Moscow announced tonight.

Exclusive to The Edmonton Journal, Oct. 30.—(Delayed)—The Red Army, overrunning the Germans at will in every direction, completed the occupation of more than two thirds of the Crimean peninsula, above the Crimean and smashed ahead to the mouth of the Dnieper.

Soviet armored and motorized spearheads cut deeper and deeper into the heart of the fleeing German, leaving behind less than 100 miles of Nazi stragglers, and in some other way of giving them some or two small units up their rear.

Some of our own troops have found only a limited amount.

The battle of the Crimean peninsula appeared to go down in history as one of the most disastrous defeats ever suffered by the German army.

The German high command admitted only a "break through" by Russian forces, noting that the "break through" was "violent" fighting in progress but gave no details.

The Berlin radio announced that the German forces were being driven back by the Russian forces.

Kharkov, the main crossing of the Dnieper, has been bypassed by the speedy Soviet advance toward Kharkov, but another Russian column was moving toward the city from 15 miles to the east.

The Russian thrust to the Black Sea coast, south of the Dnieper, the capture of Chapiiska, 14 miles north of Perkeo, and more than 100 miles to the west, in a 24-hour dash across the Crimean peninsula.

The Era Of Soviets

By Joseph Stalin

In Russia the words Communism and Leninism are used interchangeably. But there is a subtle distinction between the two words. Communism refers most of all to practice. Leninism refers to creed.

Leninism implies more than philosophy of life of the Russian under the new regime.

Directly after Lenin's death Stalin set out to codify, as it were, the Leninist doctrine. He was able to do this as well as on politics and revolution. He acted this way because of Leninism. Each year or two Stalin added new essays and chapters to this work. The first edition of Leninism, which appeared in 1925, was no more than a small brochure of about 20,000 words. The second edition, which appeared in 1927, was no more than 600 closely printed pages and covered about 200,000 words.

Translated, Abridged and Edited by Elias Tolstain

The Foundations of Leninism is a large subject. An entire volume, in fact, would be able to exhaust the subject in my lectures; at most I can only give you a short summary of it. To present the subject of Leninism means to state that which is especially new in this work of Lenin and which he had contributed to the general treasure-house of Marxism. Only in this sense will I speak in these lectures about the Foundations of Leninism.

New then, what is Leninism?

There are some who say that Leninism is the application of the teachings of Karl Marx to the conditions of Russia. This is not correct. Leninism is the application of the teachings of Karl Marx to the conditions of Russia. This is not correct. Leninism is the application of the teachings of Karl Marx to the conditions of Russia. This is not correct.

Others say that Leninism is the revival of the revolutionary elements of Marxism in the forties of the Nineteenth century, in distinction to the Marxism of subsequent years, when it allegedly became more moderate and less revolutionary.

Actually we know that Leninism is

Inside Germany

Viscount Halifax Declares European War Is at Stage Where Anything Can Happen

By J. F. SANDERSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(GP)—"The war in Europe has reached a point where 'anything may happen' in Hitler's Germany, Viscount Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, said here yesterday.

Back from two months in Britain, the ambassador said it was perfectly logical to believe today that an internal crack-up in Germany may come any time.

But the diplomat advised everyone to keep his fingers crossed, not to count too heavily on a sudden collapse.

Asked to elaborate, he said it must be apparent to many Germans now that they cannot win the war. But the Germans are tough, resourceful fighters and their civil-happens more imminent than might be expected. The ambassador said he returned to Washington with many impressions of Britain as she entered the fifth year of war. Some of these were:

1.—There is confidence everywhere that the war is reaching a climax without, at the same time, any slackening of effort or will.

2.—Consumer goods are short and hard to find, the food wholesome but dull, without variety.

3.—Manpower and womanpower have been mobilized to the limit, with women up to 50 conscripted for work. The result is the people are getting tired, feeling the strain and there has been some labor trouble lately in shipyards and coal mines. But there is little or no grumbling.

POST-WAR PROBLEMS
The ambassador said he was struck particularly at the moment of thinking the British people are doing on post-war problems. The development of an American foreign policy is being watched closely.

The British people, he continued, are determined that those who fought together to win the peace shall stick together to enforce it. There can be no disarmament of the victors this time, he suggested, although enemy countries must be disarmed.

Lord Halifax touched on a variety of subjects and answered questions freely. He said:

That he finds himself "in complete agreement" with Wendell Wilkie's warning to Britons not to mix in domestic American politics.

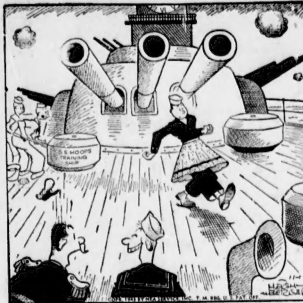

That Allied bombings have had a "very considerable effect" on German fighter plane strength.

NO POLICY CHANGE
That there is no disposition in London to change the Allied policy of unconditional surrender. He said that he knew of no peace offers from Germany.

That post-war reduction in the size of present-day Germany may have been discussed at the Anglo-American-Russian conference at Moscow but that he was not a proper authority to give out information on that point.

Germany Rushing Troops To Bolster East Front

By JOHN GOLDBURN

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Alarmed over the overwhelming menace of the conquering Red armies, the Germans are rushing reinforcements to the Russian front from Italy and Norway and are intensifying work on new fortifications in a defense line in Poland, Swiss reports to Swedish newspapers said yesterday.

At least in German divisions are being transported from Genoa via Lyon, France, to the Russian front, said a dispatch from the Swiss newspaper Tribune de Genéve.

Saboteurs are aware of the movement and are hampering transport by blasting railway lines, the Swiss report added.

The German-controlled Paris radio said yesterday that saboteurs had wrecked the Paris-Marseille rail line Saturday night, killing seven persons and injuring 25. It was the third blow by saboteurs against this line reported in recent days.

HE FOUGHT THE GOOD FIGHT

Sergeant Joseph A. Gregory, M.M., has fought the good fight... not only in this war but in the last conflict in which he enlisted before he was fifteen years old, served three years in France and was twice wounded.

Today Sergeant Gregory is home in Canada. Behind him is the epic of Dieppe in which his daring sorties against snipers' positions and his gallantry and devotion to duty in carrying on despite a severe wound, which later cost him his eye, won him the Military Medal.

Sergeant Gregory is still "carrying on" as a member of the Recruiting Staff of M.D. 13, Calgary. He has two sons in the service, a sister in the C.W.A.C. and his brother was also wounded at Dieppe. Here is what the Sergeant says of Canada's Fifth Victory Loan.

"I'm out of action now and my two boys are taking my place. I'd like to know that they won't suffer from lack of equipment. Back up the boys who are in action fighting for us at home. We can fight for THEM by purchasing more and more Victory Bonds."

You, too, can FIGHT THE GOOD FIGHT

Dieppe... Sicily... these are the battle honours of Canada. Here Canadian soldiers won medal after medal for valour above and beyond the call of duty. Here our boys fought the good fight, as they are now fighting it in Italy.

Now is the time for you, too, to fight the good fight... to show your faith as our boys showed their heroism... to fight with your dollars as they fought with bullets... to buy Victory Bonds on a scale above and beyond the call of duty.

Remember, although Victory is now in sight it may yet escape us unless every one of us has the courage and devotion to see it through to the end. That is why Canada's Fifth Victory Loan is a vital challenge to all of us... a bugle calling for our best and finest effort.

Fight the good fight for the cause of freedom, the continued security of those you hold dear... the speeding up of Victory and all it means in a new and better civilization. Buy all the Bonds you can out of your savings. Buy more on installment. These are your Battle Honours.

Go Right on Buying

The Victory Loan Campaign is in the home stretch. Saturday's sales for Edmonton subscriptions up to 85 per cent of the announced quota. The only danger now that the objective will not be reached is a too general assumption that it is certain to be reached. Indifference born of over-confidence in the outcome could cause a buying slump. There were indications last week that general indifference was nagging because of the growing prospect that the city's allocation would be met.

This temptation to take for granted that the goal will be reached should be regarded. There is no certainty that the objective will be attained, and can be none until the sales total reaches the city's quota. It will not be reached if enough could be buyers lightly assume that other people will take up the unsold bonds.

Since the quota assigned to Edmonton is maximum only, it is possible to be buying in excess of this amount, the sensible thing to do is to ignore the progress that has been made and invest as much as possible in these long-term securities. Five years or ten years from now nobody is going to feel that he has too many of them. The regrets are going to be on the part of those who do not buy.

Civilians Can't Be Immune

A despatch said to be based on official Berlin information given out surreptitiously states that 1,200,000 civilians have been killed or are missing in Germany as a result of Allied air attacks. The number is homeless or evacuated because of raid damage is placed at nearly 7,000,000.

Remembering that for many months thousands of tons of bombs have been dropped on German centres monthly, these figures do not seem improbable. That they are not several times larger is of course due chiefly to the shrewdness of the Germans. No German city is considered to be properly equipped. For despite the Luftwaffe and ack-ack guns, the bombers get through to their targets.

This slaughter of civilians and destruction of civilian property has of course been incidental. It has been no part of Allied strategy, nor has it been the aim of the German air force. The aim is to free the air to do as they please about bombing residential districts—as German leaders would have it.

What Hitler learned his bombers and strafers on cities in neighboring countries has made it inevitable that civilians should be killed. It is the only way in which the responsibility for the dead and homeless in Germany, as in the countries he attacked. He asked for "total war" and set the pace. The Allies cannot leave his munitions factories and railway terminals and docks alone just because in destroying these it is unavoidable that civilians suffer.

They're Good at Backing Up

Rommel is not the only Nazi general who is good at conducting a retreat. There are others, on the Russian front, who are experts in preventing a withdrawal turning into a panic rout. That was shown in the enemy's retreat in 1942, when the front was pulled back to the Dnieper line under pressure of the Russian offensive. From Stalingrad to Dnepropetrovsk is over 300 miles, and the "advancing" of the rear" started in a defeat involving the loss of 300,000 men captured, besides scores of thousands killed and wounded. The complete lack of any organized retreat on the part of the troops could prevent the back-stepping becoming a wild flight of disorganized men.

This is to be remembered in assessing the probable results of the disaster that befell the enemy at the Dnieper. Moscow does not claim that the hasty withdrawal from the Dnieper line took on the aspect of a rout. It may never—as it is of course may—take on that aspect. Discipline is the first and last word in the German military code. It is enforced by a system of military enforcement is needed, and it is seldom needed. The retreat is likely to be orderly, despite the spectacular losses. The 40 Hitler divisions out of the closing jaws of the Red prisoners. Should it lead to disorder, that would reveal a break in the morale of the German troops. There has been as yet no cause to think has occurred.

Constructive Investment

The Dominion Government is paying this year about $6,000,000 in assistance to Alberta and Saskatchewan farmers whose crops were ruined by drought. Although crop failure, complete or partial, struck 850 townships in the two provinces. The assistance money went to the farmers for the loss of their crops, but it will help to save them and their families from hardship.

This money is raised by a tax of one per cent collected on grain sold. The burden thus falls on the western farmers generally, in proportion to the amounts of grain they sell, and the general taxpayer is not directly affected. But indirectly he is also hit, since the tax cuts down the buying power of the general public. Grain does not fall, and the total amount of grain money available for circulation through the channels of business is lower by the amount that would have been received had the crop failures not occurred in the dry areas. Everybody thus suffers, directly or indirectly, because rain did not fall in the quantities needed in the dry areas. The moral is as self-evident. The Farm Rehabilitation policy should be pushed ahead more vigorously throughout what is known as the semi-dry triangle. In large part that project consists of steps to conserve water and in the planting of forest tracts and shelter belts to prevent soil drifting. The results already obtained have been splendid, quite good enough to prove that rehabilitation is practicable and worth while.

Broadening and speeding the conserving operations would of course cost money, measured not in thousands but in millions of dollars. It could not be better invested for long term benefit to the country. In favorable seasons the dry-belt has turned into the business system of the Dominion many times the probable cost of rehabilitation on a scale as wide as necessary. It will repeat that wealth-production if the necessary capital is put into schemes to free it from dry season crop failures.

Herr Goebbels says there has been no serious weakening of morale among the people in Germany. He may be speaking the truth, though he is more likely to be saying what he thinks will best serve the Nazi interests. But he at least admits that a situation exists in which the German people are being broken out. And he attributes this mainly to the incessant bombing of German centres, which can be believed to be true. Bombardment by the Allies, and the bombs blowing the town to pieces at night must be somewhat frazzling even to the Naziified nerves.

President Roosevelt is a man of great patience, but of equal persistence. He apparently thinks it is possible to induce Argentina to break with the Axis, and has something to show for his belief in the easing of the ban there against the publication of Jewish language newspapers. The horde of Axis spies at Buenos Aires must be doing more mischief than the public know about, since it is considered so important to have them rooted out or locked up.

The Saturday Night Review

Summary of Broadcast
Delivered Over CFRN
Oct. 30.

By HAROLD L. WEIR

The Soviet Union in my review this week belongs to Czechoslovakia which on Thursday, the 28th of October, celebrated the anniversary of its independence as a republic.

The Czechoslovakians celebrated this event under the cruel and brutal domination of the Nazis. But not even this disaster could prevent the Czechoslovakians from celebrating their independence. Their political life has been a constant struggle against the Czechoslovakian passion for freedom and for the Czechoslovakian genius for democracy.

One recalls with pleasure and admiration the Harold L. Weir long history of these people who from the Dark Ages down have always played a leading part in the history of Central Europe.

His surveys with deep respect the successful efforts of the great Thumas Masaryk to carve a model state out of oppression and tyranny. One pays the tribute that the Czechoslovakians have preserved the democratic faith against the onslaughts of a barbaric conqueror and have given to the world the incredible example of a nation which has made immense contributions to world culture.

In literature, music and art, the Czechoslovakians have been a source of inspiration to the world. In their political thinking, even in medieval times, was progressive and has always been an enlightened and kindly people.

His remained for them, along with the Norwegians, the Danes, the Dutch, the Belgians and the Swedes, to be a lesson in fortune under adversity.

In these times, and notably in Czechoslovakia, there has been no compromise with the enemy. Their people have experienced a reign of terror for their resistance to the Nazi regime. The Czechoslovakians have never been equal in the early history.

These Pancakes Are Different

Mark Twain Didn't Think Much of Them As A Bedtime Quake

By MARK TWAIN

When Mark Twain was travelling in Europe many years ago, he came upon a wonderful and unusual pancake. This pancake was made of an iron skillet some 18 inches in diameter and came out big enough to cover a huge round dinner plate.

When the baking was complete, the pancake was given a generous sprinkling of powdered sugar and then a sprinkling of blueberry jam. It was then turned into a comestible thickness of each arm and a foot and a half in length.

So delicious was this pancake that Mark Twain ate it with relish and the result was that he felt very much better by the next morning. He then wrote about it in his book, "The Innocents Abroad."

Now, the exact way to make this pancake is as follows: For each pancake, beat two eggs and add a pinch of salt, a pinch of sugar, and a pinch of blueberry jam. Then sift in one cup of milk and one cup of flour. Beat the egg mass thoroughly with an egg beater.

Heat a heavy iron frying pan over a fire and add one cup of water. When the water has boiled, add one cup of the egg mass and mix it well. Then add one cup of the egg mass and mix it well. Then add one cup of the egg mass and mix it well.

When the batter is hot, but not too hot, pour the mixture into the pan and cook the top for five minutes. Then turn the pancake over and cook the bottom for five minutes. Then turn the pancake over and cook the bottom for five minutes.

When the pancake is cooked, it should be served with a generous sprinkling of powdered sugar and a generous sprinkling of blueberry jam. It should be served with a generous sprinkling of powdered sugar and a generous sprinkling of blueberry jam.

When the pancake is cooked, it should be served with a generous sprinkling of powdered sugar and a generous sprinkling of blueberry jam. It should be served with a generous sprinkling of powdered sugar and a generous sprinkling of blueberry jam.

The Era Of Soviets—

any. Though ignoring such a stupid and contemptible division of the teachings of Marx into two parts, revolutionary and moderate, we must admit that there is a measure of truth even in this inadequate and unsatisfactory appraisal. This part of truth consists of the fact that Lenin has indeed revived the revolutionary contents of Karl Marx's teachings, which have been immersed by the opportunists of the Second International. But this is only a measure of truth. The whole truth about Leninism consists in the fact that Lenin has not only revived Marxism, but has taken another step forward by further developing Marxism in the never-ending conditions of capitalism and class struggle of the proletariat.

What, finally, is Leninism? Leninism is Marxism in the epoch of imperialism and proletarian revolution. Specifically, Leninism is the theory and tactics of proletarian revolution in general, and the theory and tactics of the dictatorship of the proletariat in particular. Marx and Engels lived and moved in a pre-revolutionary period (we have in mind the Proletarian Revolution) when there was not yet a fully developed imperialism. It was a period when the proletarian revolution was preparing for revolution and when the proletarian revolution did not yet appear as a direct practical inevitability. Lenin, a pupil of Marx and Engels, lived, on the other hand, in a period of fully developed imperialism, in a period when the proletarian revolution was unfolding, when it had in fact conquered in one country, had routed the bourgeois and introduced a new epoch of proletarian democracy—an era of Soviets.

This is why Leninism appears as the further development of Marxism. The exceptionally militant and exceptionally revolutionary character of Leninism is usually noted. This is perfectly right. But this peculiarity of Leninism is explained by two causes. First, because Leninism had sprung from the proletarian revolution whose imprint it bears. Second, because it grew up and developed in continued clashes with the opportunistic tactics of the Second International, the subjugation of which was and is an essential preliminary to a successful struggle with capitalism. It must not be forgotten that between Marx and Engels, on the one hand, and Lenin, on the other, there is an entire period in which the opportunist policies of the Second International reigned supreme. The struggle against these policies could not but become one of the chief problems of Leninism.

NEW PERIOD

Leninism grew up and took shape under conditions of imperialism. When the contradictions of capitalism had reached their peak and the proletarian revolution had become a question of spontaneous necessity. The old period of preparation of the working class for revolution had given way to a new period which called for direct assault on capitalist strongholds. Lenin called imperialism "moribund capitalism." Why? Because imperialism carries the contradictions of capitalism to their final stage, to the extreme limits beyond which begins revolution. The more important of these con-

The roads to Rome are hard and slow, the Allied armies in Italy are finding. Chief highway of attack is the ancient Appian Way, the coastal road along which General Clark's Fifth Army is battling mile by mile against the Germans. Other main road to the capital is the one running across the traditions of capitalism are three in number. The first contradiction is the antagonism between labor and capital. Imperialism implies the omnipotence of the monopolistic trusts and syndicates, of the banks and the financial oligarchy in the industrial countries. In the struggle with such tremendous financial power the ordinary weapons of the working class, such as trade unions, co-operatives, political parties and parliamentary procedures have proved themselves completely ineffective. It is a case of either the workers throwing themselves upon the mercy of capital, of continuing to suffer and sink lower and lower in the economic and social degradation of the new weapons. This is how imperialism puts the choice to the bulk of the proletarian masses. Imperialism forces the working class to revolt. The conflict of the capitalist contradictions is the conflict among the various financial groups and imperialist powers over sources of raw materials and foreign territorial possessions. Imperialism means the export of capital to the sources of raw materials and the wild scramble for the monopolistic control of such sources. It means a struggle for the redivision of an already divided world. This struggle is carried on with special frenzy by the newer financial groups and powers seeking a "place in the sun," while the older groups and powers try to hang on to their prey. This mad struggle among the various groups of capitalists has one characteristic: It inevitably includes within it program foreign wars, wars for the acquisition of foreign territories. This last circumstance, in turn, leads to the mutual weakening of the imperialists and to the weakening of the position of capitalism generally. It brings nearer the moment of proletarian revolution. In fact it makes such a revolution unavoidable.

The third capitalist contradiction is the antagonism between the handful of great and ruling nations, the highly "civilized" nations, and the colonial and dependent peoples of the world whose numbers run into hundreds of millions. Imperialism means the most shameful exploitation and inhuman oppression of vast populations in colonies and other dependent countries. The aim of such exploitation and oppression is to wring out super-profits. This circumstance, however, is not without benefit to the proletariat. It strengthens the revolutionary movement in all colonial and dependent countries. At bottom this ruthless exploitation undermines the position of capitalism by changing the character of these colonial and dependent countries and transforming their populations into a reserve of proletarian revolution.

Such is the main reason for the contradictions of imperialism which are transforming the old and "flourishing" capitalist order into a social system that is moribund. In other words world imperialism has brought things to such a pass that not only has revolution become practically inevitable, it has also created the conditions necessary for a direct storming of capitalist strongholds.

Such is the international setup which has given birth to Leninism. But it is asked, where does Russia come into the picture since it is a country which never was and never could be one of the classical countries of imperialism? Where does Lenin fit into all this, Lenin who worked first and foremost in Russia and for Russia? Why was it particularly Russia that has served as the hearth of Leninism? Why did Russia have to become the pioneer of the theory and practice of proletarian revolution?

IN BETTER POSITION

The answer is because Russia had become the juncture of all of these imperialist contradictions. Russia had become ripe for revolution ahead of all other countries and thus was in a better position to solve all of these contradictions by means of revolution. Czarist Russia was the centre to every sort of oppression—capitalist, colonial, military. Capitalist ruthlessness and the exploitation of the Czar combined to exploit such vast territorial regions as Turkey, Persia, China. Lenin was right when he characterized the czarist regime as a "military-feudal imperialism." The czarist regime had become the culmination of all the negative sides of imperialism.

The czarist government was not only the watchdog of imperialism in the east of Europe, it was also the faithful ally of western imperialism in the division of Turkey, Persia and China. The interests of czarism and of western imperialism were too closely interwoven to be torn apart.

A revolution against czarist rule in Russia had become inevitable. It could not stop half way. It had to become a revolution against imperialism also.

Sforza Seeks Abdication of Italian King

By BELMAN MORIN

NAPLES, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Count Sforza, former Italian foreign minister, indicated yesterday his willingness to give Premier Pietro Badoglio "my parallel collaboration" in a government, but implied that he would not join any regime unless King Victor Emmanuel abdicates.

Sforza's statement was made at a news conference yesterday after Badoglio had said Saturday that he intended asking the Count to enter a proposed coalition government representing all sections of political opinion, including communism.

The premier-minister conferred with the Count yesterday morning along with Benedetto Croce, noted Italian philosopher, with whom Sforza identified himself.

BREAK FASCIST LINKS

Without any specific reference to the king, Sforza said during a press conference, "It will be exceedingly difficult to revive the fighting spirit of the Italian people if we don't give them some striking evidence that all links with the fascists are broken. The situation needs truth."

clarity and loyalty, not compromise nor opportunistic tricks. Sforza who arrived in Italy recently from the United States, has the backing of the Action party which advocates wide economic and social reforms. He has not yet been asked to take the portfolio.

Badoglio arrived in Naples last week with Harold MacMillan, British minister, and Robert Murphy, American minister, who conferred with the former Italian political leader. The premier told a press conference the new government would be pledged to continue the war until the Germans are expelled from all of Italy.

Baby Delivered 10 Minutes After Death of Mother

HANNA CITY, Ill., Nov. 1.—(AP)—

A baby boy was delivered alive by caesarian operation last night nearly 10 minutes after his mother died from a heart ailment. Dr. Victor Williams at Trivoli said when L. Clark, 36, was dead when he arrived at her home. He operated quickly but the infant—whose birth was expected in a week—was not breathing. Placing his finger against the baby's forehead in a half hour to start respiration. The baby was taken to St. Francis hospital in Peoria and attendants said his condition was good.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Medal for Granny Who Resumes Family Cares

War Puts Scampering Little Ones Under Roof of Grandparent, Just When Quiet Should Be Her Reward

There is not one of us who does not thrill with joy when we hear, as we so often do in these war days, of some soldier or sailor being decorated for an act of conspicuous bravery and unselfishness, but if I were giving out awards for valor and courage and self-sacrifice, I should pin the finest and largest and shiniest of all the hero medals on the breast of the grandmothers who have been drafted by their own sons and daughters-in-law into being nursemaids for the duration. There are millions of elderly women who have spent long and blameless years in bringing up their own children by hand. They have walked hundreds of miles with colicky babies. They have passed sleepless nights watching by sick beds. They have gone away to that Jimmy might have a swifter exit like the other boys, and Sally as early a hair-bow as the girl at the desk in front of her. They have washed and scrubbed and sewed and cooked to give their children good food and decent clothes, and help them get a start in life.

PEACE AFTER STRUGGLE

And when their children grew and got jobs and husbands and wives of their own, and went about the business of life, the grandmothers drew the first long breath they had taken in twenty years. They got tired of their task had been accomplished. They had done an honest day's work, and that now they could settle down in peace and comfort and take things easy. The income that had required so much stretching to cover the needs of a growing family would be ample for two old people. The cooking that had made Mother the slave of the gas range would be the child's play when they were alone on the fold. Bag and tag above all, overworked Mother would have a chance to relax and do the things she had always wanted to do and never had time to do, to read the new books, to dawdle in the stores, to belong to clubs, and to go to the movies in the day time.

Then came the war, and Mother's dream of a quiet old age was bombed into a thousand fragments. Her sons and her son-in-law went into the army, and their wives and children descended on Mother like a cyclone on the fold. Bag and tag above all, overworked Mother would have a chance to relax and do the things she had always wanted to do and never had time to do, to read the new books, to dawdle in the stores, to belong to clubs, and to go to the movies in the day time.

HARD ON WEARY BONES

after a hard day's work. She adored the children, but their noise got on her nerves, and their ceaseless activities best her wit.

But through it all untold numbers of mothers have carried on without complaint. They have given up their comfortable bedrooms to that Mary and the baby might get the morning sun. They have taken care of Sally's obstetrician, and undisciplined youngsters while she went to visit her husband at camps and have a big time. They have done without the new coat they had set their hearts on because Lucinda's sickly little girl needed a new dress.

They have made themselves to the army, and their wives and children descended on Mother like a cyclone on the fold. Bag and tag above all, overworked Mother would have a chance to relax and do the things she had always wanted to do and never had time to do, to read the new books, to dawdle in the stores, to belong to clubs, and to go to the movies in the day time.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELROD

Some children never run away. Others, seemingly, cannot be kept from it.

If we know how to deal with this tendency so as to uphold the desire, instead of merely throttling it, that would be a valuable bit of knowledge. But there are many different reasons why children run away.

Obviously it is the independent, the courageous, the adventurous child who runs away. He is mischievous, home-loving, timid child who will be valuable to the family. He will be the small child from the results of his own behavior. We dare not take a chance that everything will go well, that he will get some safety on the busy, dangerous streets of our city or town.

The first direction of this tendency is to tell the child very young moment he is set out to play, that he must not be in the yard. The mother must keep watch so that the instant his feet stray beyond the designated territory, she is out and after him and is brought into the house to remind him that he is playing in a bad place, only if he stays at home. Consider the experience of this kind will help.

If possible there can be a fence, a playground or a screen porch that will relieve the mother of her constant vigilance, but locks on gates and doors should be tested and, if necessary, the gate needs and extra reinforcement of strong rope to prevent the child of picking the lock.

Having made his easy disappearance impossible, she must make him feel that he cannot find his way out. Sand piles, rinks, and other things will help him to forget his lost liberty.

And don't minimize the happy influence of a walk each day in the unknown territory, to gratify her own child's spirit of adventure and acquaint him with the cautions necessary to navigating busy streets.

Every child should understand that the parent is his natural guide and that he cannot find his way out. Sand piles, rinks, and other things will help him to forget his lost liberty.

An army of readers throughout the years have expressed virtually no success with spankings, so don't depend upon frightening the child into staying at home. Spankings to work the better of a child's punishment seems to him from home.

One leaflet, "Undesirable Punishment," describes the usual punishments and why they are usually ineffective. It may be had by sending a 4-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Elrod in care of this newspaper.

Keep Baby Warm

You can make cakes with chick-en fat or home-made butter, using all fat or half fat and half butter for the amount of shortening specified in the recipe. Spice cakes, chocolate cakes or eggs frosted are especially suitable for use in these recipes.

To mix these cakes, increase salt 1 teaspoon. Reserve about 1/4 of the sugar to beat into the egg whites. Cream remaining sugar with the fat. Combine egg yolks and milk and add creamed mixture, alternately with sifted flour mixture, beating after each addition. Beat egg whites with reserved sugar until most peaks. Add to cake batter, beating very thoroughly. Bake as usual.

That expert advice comes from a new 22-page booklet called "How to Bake by the Nation Book." And here's one of its many wartime recipes.

HONEY SPICE CAKE
Two cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons combination baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup honey, 2 egg yolks, unbeaten; 1/2 cup milk, 2-3 cup chopped walnuts.

210 flour, one measure, add baking powder, salt and allspice, beat all together three times. Cream shortening with lemon rind. Add honey gradually, beating well. Add each egg yolk and milk alternately, beating well after each addition of flour. Add vanilla. Beat egg whites until stiff enough to hold up in moist peaks. Stir quickly but gently into batter. Turn into greased 8x8x2-inch pan and sprinkle with nut meats. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 35 minutes or until done.

organized women in Great Britain of the way our women have shouldered their responsibilities in the war effort. Many groups in this country should congratulate their sisters in other nations of the world who are fighting in industry, in military services, on farms and in the homes. Without their work the armies in the field would be ill supported and could not long continue their victorious war.

HYDE PARK—I have a letter from a woman in Michigan, the mother of a son who is now serving on foreign soil, and another boy who is in the service. She asks that I draw her suggestions to the attention of my readers and I am very glad to do so.

Mrs. Johnson, of Ironwood, Michigan, feels that, in planning for peace, mothers of boys in our services and German mothers and Russian mothers could sit down and discuss certain broad phases of the promotion of good will among nations in the future, perhaps more easily and more realistically than the diplomats and economists who are usually in evidence when such plans are being formulated.

I do not know that I would limit it only mothers. I think I would say many women with sons, husbands and friends serving overseas, have a deep interest in this question of preventing wars in the future. Mrs. Johnson suggests that the diplomatic and economic questions should not be a part of the women's discussion, but I feel that, perhaps the women should set themselves to finding all the questions that must form a basis for peace.

Merely generating good will, which will result in a willing to work together, is not going to be enough. We shall have to know how nations will be fed and built up again in self-sustaining units which can help us to top and support the other nations in the world.

We are a family of nations and each nation has to live well. We shall have to be able to understand the economic and political conditions that are making the fight for freedom and democracy. Arthur Drexel, acting general secretary.

What To Do

To whom are wedding gifts addressed?

Answer—All wedding gifts sent before the wedding are sent to the prospective bride. No gifts must be sent to the groom even, even though the bride is unknown to his friends.

However, if someone wishes to send a wedding gift after a wedding has taken place, it would be addressed to "Mr. and Mrs." instead of to "Mrs." and should be something that the couple will be able to use jointly.

Although the people sending the gift before the wedding may have never met the bride, they would still direct the gifts to her.

SHOULDERS BURDEN OF WAR

Granted that in many cases the mothers who take their children to the front are not the mothers who have no children to go. The war has broken up their own homes. They have no more than a few children left. They have no more than a few children left.

And because they have never thought of their mothers as anything but a first aid to their own children, they think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them.

They think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them.

They think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them.

They think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them.

They think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them.

They think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them.

They think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them.

They think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them.

They think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them. They think that it is their duty to take care of them.

Minute Make-Ups

Are you the busy Executive Girl? Take that precious extra minute to use a good foundation blended with fragrance stroking. Your hair must be sleek, too, smooth and shining. If you wear glasses you need perfectly brushed eyebrows and lashes tipped with mascara. It might seem easy to be and easy to rise, BUT—the Executive Girl must look the part.

spade trick setting the contract, which will result in a willing to work together, is not going to be enough. We shall have to know how nations will be fed and built up again in self-sustaining units which can help us to top and support the other nations in the world.

We are a family of nations and each nation has to live well. We shall have to be able to understand the economic and political conditions that are making the fight for freedom and democracy. Arthur Drexel, acting general secretary.

Pulp Industry Is Granted Higher Labor Priority

OTTAWA, Nov. 1.—(CP)—Pulpwood cutting operations have been given higher labor priority and the Dominion and provincial governments are about to start an intensive winter campaign to move farm labor to the woods so as to alleviate an impending shortage of pulpwood.

Labor Minister Mitchell announced this program in broad terms last night. His statement did not name the priority category in which the cutting of pulpwood has been assigned, but elsewhere it was learned it has been moved to "D," or high priority from the "C" or low priority formerly held.

Mr. Mitchell said "other measures related to the seasonal character of pulpwood cutting and the plan are planned. He gave no details."

NEW CAMPAIGN

Another source, however, said this was a reference to a new Dominion-provincial campaign to induce the greatest possible number of farmers to work in the bush in the winter.

"This is a normal movement," this informant said, "and this year we intend to intensify it. We're starting a big advertising campaign using the newspapers, posters and radio. Even the churches are going to co-operate."

"To a minor degree selective service officers will help, too, but there isn't much to be done in the cities where they're located. The big job will have to be done in the country."

While Mr. Mitchell said in his statement he is confident the new measures will do much to relieve the tight pulpwood situation, he called for elimination of non-essential use of paper and pulp products and "An effective and vigorous program of waste paper salvage."

MANY VACANCIES

In an accompanying statement the wartime information board said the problem of overcoming an "acute shortage" of bush workers in Canada is accentuated at present because there are 72,000 vacancies for men in high-category occupations like the building of anti-submarine craft and coal and base metal mining.

Canadian Quinine Pool Established To Recover Drugs
OTTAWA, Nov. 1.—(CP)—Establishment of a Canadian quinine pool, intended to recover all small quantities of quinine, was announced last night by the munitions department. The pool will have its headquarters at the office of chemist E. J. Sierne in Montreal.

An official will be made to recover the thousands of ounces of these drugs now frozen in the stocks of doctors' private dispensaries and retail and hospital pharmacies.

Captured Newsmen Escapes in Italy
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Edgar Roussier, war correspondent of the Pittsburgh Courier, who arrived last night from Italy, said he had learned there that Larry Allen, Associated Press war correspondent, who was captured by Italians at Tobruk Sept. 13, 1942, had escaped and arrived in southern Italy. Last reports were that Allen had fallen into the hands of the Germans and they were moving him to Germany.

General Giraud Visits War Zone
ALGERS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Gen. Henri Giraud has returned here after a three-day visit to the Italian front where he conferred with Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander of the 5th Army, and visited a front held by a British unit engaged in hard fighting, a French communiqué announced yesterday.

Stranger Tosses $100, $1,000 Bills To Patients in Military Hospital

TORONTO, Nov. 1.—(CP)—Scores of $100 bills were given away in the upper wards of Christie Street Military hospital Saturday by an unidentified cigar-smoking man accompanied by a United States army officer.

Hospital authorities said about $1,200 was tossed to bed-ridden patients in the roof ward and on the third floor, a convalescent ward. Between $250 and $300 was distributed.

A guard at the door of the hospital said the man started the "shell-out" by presenting a $100 bill to the first patient he encountered at the front door.

Excitement was high on the convalescent floor when the stranger—apparently tired of giving away $100 bills—tossed two $1,000 bills on the floor and walked out.

"I never saw a bunch of convalescents move so fast," said one patient. "That money disappeared in a split second."

One veteran, formerly a bank teller, said the bills were genuine. The stranger, whom hospital officials could not identify, left the hospital as quietly as he entered, offering no explanation.

Troops in Italy Backing Up Loan
BY LOUIS V. HUNTER
WITH THE 8th ARMY IN ITALY, Oct. 28.—(Delayed)—(CP)—Allied soldiers in Italy are throwing their dollars into their country's Fifth Victory Loan as fast as they are being brought back by the returning convoys.

In the first three days of the campaign they subscribed a total of $163,000 and the organizers are confident the $4,000,000 objective set for units in Italy will be reached before the army's "Italian section" drives into another six days.

The best daily total to date was $86,000 and one unit pledged itself to buy $4,000 worth of bonds.

The spirit in which the Canadians during the campaign is exemplified in a message received at campaign headquarters from the commander of the Canadian Army Service Corps who said: "Sorry but too many details on road. Can only produce $26,326."

Overseas Army Near Objective In Loan Drive
LONDON, Nov. 1.—(CP)—Canada's overseas army last night reached its objective of $2,000,000 in Canada's fifth Victory Loan with subscriptions to date totaling $2,087,000, Canadian military headquarters announced. Of this total, $200,000 came from troops in Italy who subscribed it within the first 48 hours of the campaign. The army in Britain has another week to go but Mediterranean forces have two more weeks because of the late start.

"As smart as a fox" is an old saying, but the wily quote is considered surlier.

163 R.A.F. Bombers Lost In 9 Big October Raids

LONDON, Nov. 1.—(CP)—The R.A.F. made nine big night raids in October, bombing Hanover and Kassel twice each and Frankfurt and Bremen once. In these attacks 163 R.A.F. bombers were lost, against 189 in nine raids in September and 293 in 14 raids in August.

In daylight sweeps R.A.F. light bombers dealt a steady drubbing to French and Netherlands airfields, power facilities, trains, docks and shipping, concentrating particularly on the Cherbourg peninsula.

The United States 8th Air Force expanded the scope of its operations in October, making raids from the Atlantic coast to Poland, Russia and Germany. Their losses were a record—24 bombers destroyed—a record—and the United States lost a record total of 174 heavy bombers. No medium bombers were lost.

Seven heavy raids were made. Four-engined bombers penetrated beyond Germany to bomb Hamburg and Gdynia, Poland. Their losses for a raid was the 60 shot down from a force of about 200 in the Oct. 14 raid on the Baltic coast at Schwinart.

Losses for the whole war as compiled by the authoritative civilian weekly "Aeroplane" stand at 12,159 Allied planes lost against 10,626 for the Axis, mainly over Europe and excluding Russia and the Orient. The toll in men is put at 48,470 for the Allies and 48,162 for the Axis.

The German home security ministry announced that since April 1, 1942, a total of 102,486 persons have been killed in Allied raids on Hamburg, Hanover, Kassel, Frankfurt and eight other large cities.

Volume of underground water in the earth has been estimated at one-third of the amount in the sea.

Rabaul Air Base Dealt New Blow

BY DON CASWELL

Excluded by the International Maritime Convention, 1923, by Britain United States ALLIED HEAVY BOMBERS, South Pacific, Nov. 1.—Allied bombers smashing Rabaul again with 115 tons of explosives destroyed 45 to 60 Japanese aircraft at the big base Friday to run their October total to a record 1,000 enemy planes wrecked or damaged, a communiqué reported today.

Striking to keep the enemy's air arm busy while American warplanes clashed with the Japanese on Choiseul Island in the Solomon, the Liberator bombing force and strong fighter escort lost only four of their number.

A headquarters spokesman describing the attack on Rabaul, on New Britain island, and new base at Bougainville, in the northern Solomons, said it could be viewed as direct support to the ground troops who ran into resistance from the Japanese on the southeast coast between Vagaa and Voca, about three miles south of the point where they were landed by ships Thursday.

Red Cross Ship Sunk by Mine Near Marseille
LISBON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The 1,000-ton Portuguese freighter Padua, under charter to the International Red Cross and reported carrying 11,000 bags of mail for Allied war prisoners in Germany, was reported Saturday to have been sunk by a floating mine off Marseille last Wednesday.

Three officers and three men on duty in the engine room were reported killed. Sixteen other persons, including the Swiss delegate of the Red Cross, were reported to have been landed safely at Marseille.

The Padua, which sailed from Lisbon Oct. 12, was making its 37th trip through the Mediterranean for the Red Cross and was the first vessel chartered to the Red Cross to be sunk in this war.

The explosion resulted it is said, when Bertha struck a match as she went to the basement for vegetables.

Tina Brucker, another daughter, was blown through the front window but was not injured.

Australian Pilot Killed in Crash
CLARENSHOLM, Alta., Nov. 1.—(CP)—An Australian student pilot of No. 15 Service Flying Training School, R.C.A.F. here, was killed Saturday when his plane crashed and burned 24 miles south of Glenora. The student was on a solo navigational cross-country flight. Newfoundland have been notified and the airman's name will be released shortly.

Are you going to be a kangaroo?

A kangaroo's life is pretty soft. At an early age he gets a free ride everywhere. When he grows up, he uses his long legs and small brain to take him happily-hop, happily-hop, anywhere he wants to go.

And he isn't going anywhere, anyway. No true Canadian wants to be a kangaroo. In the first place, he isn't interested in getting a free ride at the expense of others. In the second, he knows that the war isn't going to be won by happily-hop. Thirdly, the average Canadian is going somewhere.

True Canadians are sharing in the cost of this war by buying Victory Bonds. They're helping themselves buy more Victory Bonds by cutting down happily-hop buying of needless luxuries. They're holding onto the Victory Bonds they do buy against that bright new world of tomorrow towards which we are all headed.

NOW — are you going to be a kangaroo?

Why not go through that stack of old magazines right now? Pick out those showing pictures of aircraft and bring them to our Magazine Section on the Main Floor. They'll be greatly appreciated—and we'll see to it that the R.C.A.F. gets them!
